Japanese Woman Suicides.

Friday morning the body of a Japanese was found floating in the Waiakae River. There were no signs of foul play, and every indication seems to point to suicide. It was the wife of Hayashi Tagiro, a Japanese fisherman. It seems that on Thursday evening she was apparently well, when they retired for the night, but when he awoke about 5:30 Friday morning he found his wife gone and the door of his house open. After searching around, the body of his wife was found floating in the river. He had had a financial loss a week ago in losing his fishing outfit while out at sea, but they had never had any quarrel or family difficulty. The Coroner's Jury brought in a verdict that the woman came to her death by drowning, cause unknown. Dr. Holland on post mortem examination found plenitric adhesions and an enlarged liver, which may have operated in producing melancholia, with the result of suicide.

Territorial Legislature Convenes.

(From Special Correspondent to TRIBUNE.)

Honolulu, Feb. 17.—The third legislature of the Territory of Hawaii was organized on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock and immediately settled down to business of introducing bills. For several days preliminary to the opening, there was talk of a spirited contest over the speakership of the house. The presidency of the senate was conceded to D. P. R. Isenberg of Oahu and there was no apparent opposition when the time for organization came. Senator J. D. Paris of West Hawaii was selected as vice-president.

The contest for speakership was a four-cornered fight between Carlos Long of Oahu, Eric A. Knudsen of Kauai, W. W. Harris of Oahu and H. L. Holstein of Hawaii. The fight soon narrowed down to Long and Knudsen, with the chances in favor of the latter. The only prospects of either Harris or Holstein lay in the possible withdrawal of one of the other candidates and the transfer of his strength to them. Carl S. Smith was mentioned as a dark horse for speaker in the event of a deadlock, which never came.

Solomon Maheula controlled the delegation from the Fifth and it was generally reported that he demanded a pledge from Long that he would be assigned to the chairmanship of the printing committee, before he would throw the Fifth's strength to Long. Long refused, whereupon Knudsen controlled the situation with Maheula's support, and he was elected as speaker.

Representative J. D. Lewis was temporary speaker but on permanent organization failed to secure the vice-speakership. Rev. S. L. Desha, of Hilo, who has taken an important part in the speakership contest, was selected as chaplain of the house which he fills with ability. In the selection of committees, Hawaii's delegation was taken care of nicely.

W. H. Shipman was assigned to Accounts and Printing committees. J. D. Lewis was put on Agriculture, Public Expense and Military committees. Carl S. Smith was made chairman of Public Health and Education and appointed as a member of the Judiciary committee. H. L. Holstein received the chairmanship of the Committee on Police and was assigned to Public Lands and Internal Improvements. A. Fernandez is a member of the same committee. Greenwell went on Printing and Kaniho on Agriculture.

In the senate assignments, Senator J. T. Brown was appointed on Rules and Public Health committees. Geo. C. Hewitt goes upon Accounts and Education committees. J. D. Paris is likewise on Accounts, as well as Finance, Public Lands and Internal Improvements. Palmer P. Woods was assigned to Rules, Public Lands and Internal Improvements and to the committee on Miscellaneous Matters.

After organization, both houses listened to the Governor's message, which occupied the balance of the day.

J. S. Ferry Arrested.

Deputy United States Marshal Frank L. Winter came up last week on the Kinai and placed under arrest Jos. S. Ferry, a new Hilo Circuit Court lawyer, for being implicated in the Koloa postoffice scandal. They returned to Honolulu last week, where Ferry will have to answer to the charge of violating Section 5463, Revised Statutes of the United States. He may possibly turn State's evidence in the other cases, in which event the charge against him would be withdrawn. It seems that Ferry, according to the evidence in the hands of the authorities, got mixed up with Rego as long ago as June, 1903. In that month there was a batch of postal money orders drawn on the Honolulu office, footing up somewhere in the neighborhood of $2,000, in which Ferry is named both as drawer and payee. In other words, the orders show on their face that the money was paid in to the Koloa office for them by Ferry, and that he then endorsed them here as having received the money. Now, whether this was merely a Rego transaction, or whether Ferry is actually implicated in the deal, is a matter for the courts to determine. In addition to these June money orders, in which the name of Ferry appears as both payer and payee, his name also appears upon money orders all through the series drawn by Rego. In fact, the name of Ferry seems to have been one of Rego's most valuable assets in working his financial plans. But, of course, there is no evidence so far made public to show that Ferry was implicated in any way beyond the orders drawn in 1903.

Opening of Armory.

With its patriotic spirit the National Guard of Hilo has selected upon the anniversary of George Washington's natal day with which to dedicate their new armory. Military life will be in full swing tomorrow evening, and Hilo society will turn itself over entirely to the care of the khaki uniform and the glitter of brass buttons and shoulder straps. Martial law will prevail, and under the military skill of the soldier boys, redoubts and entrenchments will be so thrown up that Hilo's grim arsenal will be completely transformed. Feminine divinity may practice her flirtations upon the innocent soldier youth, and may herself fall victim to the alluring influence of shoulder straps, a star, or dazzling tinsel. Under the glow and warmth of the camp fire even the civilian may feel the tingling desire to take up the musket for his country's cause. The spirit of George Washington will radiate over the scene, and the spirit of valor and bravery will be represented in abundance by the numerous National emblems for which our heroes have fought and bled. At 8:00 o'clock the bugle will sound the reveille, and under the quiet influence of military music the light fantastic will thenceforth throughout the evening hold forth. The dedicatory speech will be made by Hon. C. M. LeBlond. The committees in charge are as follows:

General Committee—Capt. W. A. Fetter, Lieut. W. H. Beers, Sergt. J. D. Easton, and Private E. H. Lyman.

Reception Committee—Capt. W. A. Fetter, Sergt. J. D. Easton, Sergt. D. Reinhardt, Corp. Chas. Akau, Private E. Namohala.

Floor Committee—Lieut. W. H. Beers, Manager; Sergt. W. G. Weight, Corp. H. Morehead, Corp. T. Rowland, Musician F. B. Adams.

Refreshment Committee—Lieut. H. W. Ludloff, Privates E. H. Lyman, A. M. Cabrinha, Joe Caceres, E. Brown.

Decoration Committee—Sergt. John M. Herring, Privates Amois de Costa, Kauka Akiona, Oliver Akau, Chas. Anderson, J. B. Medeiros, W. Wery, W. Higgins, W. R. A. Kayser, A. Kihulu.

About 12:30 the gathering broke up with the refrain of "Auld Lang Syne."
